BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The SDA Board of Directors met in San Antonio. Abridged/ updated minutes of the meeting follow:

1. Secretary Treasurer's Report: The association continues to be in good shape financially. Although the projected budget for 1988-89 shows a slight deficit (expenditures of $4963 as opposed to income of $4650), SDA had $16,804 cash on hand and 305 members as of October 1, 1988.

2. Nominations Committee: The following members were appointed: J. Gundlach (chair), B. Wurdock, and E. Powell-Griner.

3. Annual Meetings:

a. 1988 Meeting. Secretary/Treasurer Ben Bradshaw reported that personnel at the Menger Hotel had been very cooperative, and meeting facilities were excellent. However, hotel reservations lagged below expectations. A block of 100 rooms had been set aside for SDA - the same as in the San Antonio meeting of 1978 - but as of October 19, only 44 had been reserved, and half those reservations had been made after the hotel's "deadline" of September 19. Meeting preregistrations were similarly low. He did not expect that total registration would exceed 75. The percentage of members participating in the annual meeting appeared to be declining in the last two years.

Program Chair Julie Martin commented that the response to the call for papers had been quite limited, and that she had had to request participation of a number of members. Chairs for some sessions had not been filled until shortly before the meeting. She recommended that future program arrangers should make an early start on meeting plans.

In response to a question about the absence of abstracts in the 1988 program booklet, Martin stated that few complete, well-formed abstracts had been submitted - too few to justify an abstracts section. Bradshaw commented that SDA presenters in past years have submitted skimpy, incomplete, and badly composed "abstracts" that required a great deal of "cutting and pasting" to make them printable. The suggestion was made that in the absence of abstracts, the 1989 program should include addresses of first authors of papers or of designated contact persons. This recommendation was approved by the Board.

b. 1989 Meeting. George Myers, Duke University is local arrangements chair for the 1989 meeting in Durham. He was not present at the Board meeting but informed Bradshaw by phone that he had investigated several possible hotels, any of which could accommodate SDA.

c. 1990 Meeting. The Board at its October 1987 meeting had agreed on Memphis as a meeting site, with John Marcum serving as local arrangements chair. However, Marcum recently took a new position in Louisville and suggested to the Secretary-Treasurer that the meeting be held there instead. The board agreed that the 1990 meeting would be in Louisville.

d. 1991 Meeting. No site has been selected; however, Leon Bouvier in a letter to the Secretary-Treasurer recommended Norfolk, VA, with the suggestion that he and other SDA members in the Norfolk area serve as local arrangers.

e. Possible change of meeting days. Bradshaw, pursuant to a letter from Bouvier, raised the question of whether SDA should change its meeting days to Thursday-Saturday from Wednesday-Friday. Part of the rationale for this change is the much more favorable airplane fares available for weekend travel. In addition, less work time would be missed. Board members were significantly divided on the issue. It was decided that the Wednesday-Friday schedule would be followed through the 1989 meeting, and that the SDA membership should vote on whether to change to a different schedule.

4. Committee Reports.

a. Membership Committee: The committee's report was delivered during the general discussion on meeting attendance and member participation. Gladys Bowles and Anne Lee, Co-chairs, reported rather disappointing response to their efforts at recruiting members to SDA. However, Board members, in applauding their work, pointed out that the positive response (49 out of a total of 343 recruitment letters mailed) was quite good, and the Membership Committee should continue its work.

b. Applied Demography Committee: Judith Waldrop commented on some frustration at organizing activities of the committee. Discussion followed in which recommendations for activities, such as specialized workshops, were offered. The workshops, except for one notable failure, had been highly successful in the past. Martin suggested that she, as President, would in consultation with the program chair (Stan Smith) appoint a committee to develop applied demography sessions for the 1989 annual meeting, and in the process assist the activities of the Committee.

c. Newsletter: Isaac Eberstein, Newsletter editor, was unable to attend; however he informed the Board through Robert Weller that he would resign as editor following the next issue of the Newsletter. The Board discussed possible persons to fill the vacancy with no decision reached. (Omer Galle later announced at the plenary luncheon session that William and Barbara Clark O'Hare of the Population Reference Bureau will take over as newsletter editors, effective with the February 1989 issue.)

d. Archivist: Leon Bouvier, SDA Archivist, was not present, but he had sent a letter to the Secretary-Treasurer in which he commented on the failure of SDA Presidents to send their "presidential papers" to him for filing. He urged that they do so in the future.

5. Other Business.

a. Name Change: Bradshaw inquired whether Martin, as "resident agent" for SDA, had received any correspondence from the Virginia State Corporation Commission which verified that the Association's name had officially been changed from "Southern Regional Demographic Group." She responded that she had not, but she assumed that the change was made because she had not received any notice indicating otherwise.

b. Population and Environment: Galle reported that SDA now has three representatives on the twelve-member editorial board of the journal, as had been negotiated by Willi Serow on behalf of the Association. Members are Judith Waldrop, William O'Hare Isaac Eberstein.
